

Whose hoard?

If you can't finish your sandwich at lunch, you might wrap it up and save it for later. Many wild animals save food, sometimes for months. They collect food when it is plentiful and hoard it for winter or the dry season, when food is scarce. Can you match the animal with its stored food? See below for the answers.

ANIMALS

Red squirrel

Mole

Honey bee

Honeypot ant

Leopard

Pika

STORED FOOD

Honeycomb

Earthworms

Storage ants

Antelope

Mini haystack of collected grasses

Mushrooms

Answers: Red squirrel - Honeycomb; Mole - Earthworms; Honey bee - Honeycomb; Honeypot ant - Storage ants; Leopard - Antelope; Pika - Mini haystack of collected grasses

From Animals Eating

Text © 2001 Pamela Hickman

Illustrations © 2001 Pat Stephens

Published by Kids Can Press Ltd.

Downloaded from www.kidscanpress.com